

Trees

Trees live in an alternate time and space which is why we have never before noticed what they've been up to,

But now it has all been disclosed by virtue of careful and extensive time lapse photography which serves as a Lorenz Transformation translating their time and space into terms comprehensible to us,

And thus they were seen gathering at highways rudely jostling and crowding each other out like people at a parade where the immovable adults are overcome by children slipping through their legs to gain the better view.

Pressed shoulder to shoulder with little trees interspersed they lean toward highways bright with Higher Beings errorlessly careening quick as light toward the Great Mystery.

But the rules of parades are here reversed.

Here the pedestrians in only minutes of their time first dress in green then in multicolored garments then shamelessly throw off all their clothes to wave their nakedness at all those passing by,

For it has been ascertained by multi-modal factorial analysis that they want nothing more than to be noticed.
